

Locating The Serial Number

Piano manufactures place serial numbers in a variety of places. Pianos often have numbers other than serial numbers, such as case and part numbers. Some pianos DO NOT have serial numbers and therefore the age cannot be determined. Look for a number with the correct amount of digits in the locations marked with S

Need Help ?

If your piano doesn't have a serial number or you can't find it, ask your piano tuner or local piano dealer for help. Sometimes the action (piano keys) will have a date of manufacture written on it. This should be within a year or two of the piano's date of manufacture.
